

Today's Photo...

Wade McCaleb, Melissa Mahan and Tom Chatterton are sworn as newly elected members of the Broken Arrow City Council Monday night.

McCaleb did not draw an opponent in the April 1 election, while Mahan won in Ward 4 and Chatterton in Ward 3. In photos below, Richard Carter congratulates Craig Thurmond after they were selected Mayor and Vice Mayor, respectively, by the new Council. The final photo below shows a packed house to witness the swearing in ceremonies.

Carter Selected Mayor as New Council Seated

A packed house was on hand Monday night to witness the swearing-in ceremonies for two new City Council members and one returnee who did not draw an opponent.

After the new Council was seated, they elected Richard Carter as Mayor and Craig Thurmond as Vice Mayor.

Carter replaces James C. Reynolds as Mayor. Reynolds announced last January that he would not seek re-election.

Winning that vacated seat from Ward 4 was Melissa Mahan. Tom Chatterton won the Ward 3 seat. Wade McCaleb, the at-large Council member, did not draw an opponent.

The three newly sworn-in Council members now begin four-year terms. The Council votes on a Mayor and Vice Mayor every two years.

Home Page #Return to Top